

Bringing Stakeholders Together to Address Aviation's Environmental Challenges

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Aviation Green Alliance welcomes all aviation-related companies and individuals committed to proactively addressing our shared concerns regarding aviation and the environment. Under the banner of the venerated Lindbergh Foundation, all members of the aviation community can join efforts in reducing aviation's environmental footprint—a mission we all embrace.

As an independent not-for-profit organization, the Lindbergh Foundation offers its Members and supporters a “safe harbor” for addressing aviation-environmental issues. The progress, education, and understanding gained through an affiliation with the Aviation Green Alliance will prove valuable to those representing aviation's environmental interests to both the general public and governmental agencies.
